On August 26, 2009 the Station Fire started in the San Gabriel Mountains and was not 100% contained until October 16, 2009. The fire burned more than 160,000 acres, including much of Deukmejian Wilderness Park.

Ten years later the Park is recovering, with your help we have planted over 100 trees. We'd like to thank you for all your dedication and hard work!

Join us for our August Workday - we'll be removing invasive plants, watering existing trees, and possibly doing some trail maintenance.

We have tasks for all ages and abilities. This is a great event for families, individuals, clubs, and those needing Community Service hours.
