ANNUAL COMPREHENSIVE FINANCIAL REPORT

Fiscal Year Ended June 30, 2022

The City of Glendale strives to foster a more livable, sustainable, and equitable community to meet the needs of residents today and tomorrow. For many years, the City of Glendale has pursued sustainability efforts to address current and future environmental challenges. Glendale illustrates its commitment to sustainable living through policies, programs, incentives, outreach, and education for residents and businesses – like GWP’s energy and water efficiency rebates and the Sustainability Commission. The City transforms the community by introducing tree planting programs, adopting the bicycle transportation plan, holding farmers’ markets, and reducing single-use plastics through a citywide ordinance. Glendale continues to demonstrate its long-standing commitment to the environment and realized success in driving down emissions while fostering a thriving economy.

To this end, Glendale was among the first cities in Southern California to successfully implement the use of recycled water, a landfill-to-gas energy system, curbside recycling, and a plastic bag ban. Glendale continues comprehensive efforts to support environmentally friendly policies involving sustainable building design, construction, operations, and facilitates the implementation of green building standards. The City of Glendale continues to seek new technologies and innovations to foster and promote sustainability, positioning itself at the forefront of energy, water, and material efficiency, and natural environment management.
